Now Said Monmouth
Park Will Open
After July 7.

BRIGHTON BEACH MEETING.

Hamilton's Narrow Escape—General Track Gossip.

"Are we going to Monmouth or not?" is a question that is anxiously being asked by turfmen and horsemen alike. So far no official announcement has been made by the Monmouth Park Association of its intentions. They have been busy during the week with the account of a slight hope that the Court of Errors and Appeals would hand down that long-expected favorable decision in time to have the Long Branch course opened as usual. Readers of this column have all along been informed that the Monmouth Park Association would open at Morris Park and continue at Jerome Park. The meeting will begin on July 4, and all of Monmouth's important stakes will be run on Westchester's magnificent course. That settles that portion of the matter.

As to whether or no the meeting will run its entire programme off at Morris and Jerome Parks there is some doubt. It is asserted by a prominent New Jersey politician that the Long Branch course will open on or a few days after July 7. He is positively certain that the decision of the Court of Errors and Appeals will be handed down on this date, and he is equally positive that the decision will be so favorable to allow of racing at Monmouth Park. For obvious reasons the gentleman's name is withheld. Here are his utterances concerning the decision:

"It will be favorable to the race-track people. The Monmouth Association's meeting will be begun at Morris Park or Jerome Park and will be continued there until the decision is rendered. Then the meeting will be transferred to Monmouth. It is certain that there will be racing in New Jersey after the second week in July."

These are cheering words and the whole racing community will be thankful that the latest part of the season is not to be spent at Jerome. If there is a warmer place than Jerome Park in July and August it is not of this world.

The Brighton Beach Racing Association has announced its intention of opening on July 2. Extensive improvements have been made, and the meeting at the track by the sea, always a popular one, will probably be the best of the season. The new betting ring, 300 by 110 feet, equals in facilities the rings of the other and larger associations. The old betting ring will be occupied by the mutual machines and luncheon counters. The stretch in front of the stand has been widened twenty feet. A new straightway course of five and a half furlongs will be ready by the opening day. Other improvements have been made, and the comfort of visitors is to be made a special study by the Association. This guarantee that refreshments will be of the best. The betting ring will be managed by Mr. C. A. Rod. The horses offered by the Brighton management are larger than ever before, and some fine racing will doubtless be seen at the beach.

Hamilton had a narrow escape from being killed yesterday. He was riding Portchester to the third race. Turning into the stretch, he became pocketed. He tried to get through, but failing, he put up a sharp. This got Portchester out of his stride and he crossed his legs going down in a heap. Hamilton landed plump on his head and didn't even have a headache after the fall.

His wife, who was in the grand stand, set up a succession of piercing shrieks and refused to be quiet until she saw Tony alive and waiting to the judges' stand. Hamilton made a complaint against Clayton, and the two jockeys nearly came to blows as much as any one's. It is fortunate that the boy was not killed, for he can hardly spare this horse and hard rider.

Starter Caldwell has forgiven Bergen again, and has related to her the story of the race. He is in a state of grace with her, Mr. Davidson. But why have any halfway business about it? Reluctant, his folly or not at all.

The match race talked of between Longstreet and Riley looks like petering out. Both sides are bluffing. Mr. Corrigan declares he is a question that is anxiously being asked by turfmen and horsemen alike. So far no official announcement has been made by the Monmouth Park Association of its intentions.

TWO NEW FLOATING PALACES.

La Touraine Arrives at Her Dock on Her Maiden Trip.

The Magnificent New Kaiser Wilhelm II. Docked This Morning.

The Compagnie Generale Transatlantique's new steamship La Touraine, arrived at her dock at 11 o'clock this morning. It is the maiden trip of this latest addition to the French line's fleet, and the arrival of the floating palace was awaited with much interest.

La Touraine is the first twin steamship of the French line, and according to reports received from the other side, is a magnificent vessel.

She left Havre June 20, at 9 A. M., and was reported off Sandy Hook at 8:45 this morning, making her time 7 days, 8 hours and 11 minutes.

La Touraine was built in the Company's yards at Rochefort, near St. Nazaire, France. She is 240 feet in length, 57 feet in width and has a depth of hold of 38 feet. Her burden is 11,675 tons.

Her engines are of 11,000-horse-power and can easily be brought up to 15,000. At the trial trip before the 27th March, when the minimum speed attained was 19.4 knots, this rate was increased to 20.6 when the ventilators of the engines were in operation.

The King Alta matter has been dismissed with the verdict of "Not proven." Mr. Charles Satter, the reputed owner of King Alta, said that at first he had suspected that the greatest race ever run, as far as King Alta was concerned, the suspicion may have been unjust, as the horse had not run in the stretch, and therefore no line could be drawn on his performances.

Jockey Britton was thrown by the falling of Miss Dwyer at Chicago yesterday and was seriously hurt. His injuries are not fatal, however.

No indictments were found against the Out-County grand jury.

INSPECTOR GILLULY NOW.

A Brooklyn Man Appointed to the New York Immigration Office.

George K. Gilluly, of Brooklyn, has been appointed by President Harrison to be an inspector of Immigration at this port.

Mr. Gilluly was once a newspaper man in Brooklyn, and entered active politics about nine years ago. He has been a member of the Republican General Committee, chief clerk in the Kings County Sheriff's office, and for a time under sheriff. His home is at 5 Clinton Place, Brooklyn.
